

To Whom It May Concern

Hillbrook Anglican School has been working with Blue Peter over the past 3 years to deliver the 'Sailing Camp' to senior high school students, as part of Hillbrook's outdoor Education Program. I would not hesitate to recommend them as an holistic provider of quality outdoor programing.

The staff Blue Peter employ, whilst highly competent at their craft of sailing instruction, are also exceptionally skilled facilitators of outdoor learning and group process. While the sailing and immersion in natural settings, is vital to the success Hillbrook's 'Sailing Camp" has had, it is also due to the understanding of how groups work, and how adolescents can gain insight into this process and themselves.

A thorough and thoughtful approach to risk management has been recorded and shared. The experience Blue Peter has as a group is evident, as is their commitment to safe and effective programming. During one program during a severe weather event, the local knowledge and contacts ensured worthwhile programming could continue. Blue Peter were flexible in their approach, and were able to move the dates of a second program.

Blue Peter is a professional, caring and principled organisation that care about the learning experiences they provide. I would be happy to talk directly about the positive experience Hillbrook, both students and staff, have had while in the care of Blue Peter.

Kind regards
